JUVENILE THEATRICALS.—Last evening a number of ladies and gentlemen were very pleasantly entertained at the residence of Mr. Charles W. Friend, by juvenile theatricals and tableaux. The entertainment was an exceedingly pleasant one and passed off to the greatest delight of all. The performance began with a march played by Miss Emma Friend, in her really artistic manner. Then followed a dialogue, entitled "True Philosophy," in which Miss Emma Friend, Miss Lucy Starling and Master Fred Cushing did admirably; after that came a tableau "Grandmother's Home," which was charmingly presented, with red fire in the background. The entertainment concluded with another tableau, "One hour in Fairy Land," a beautiful little thing. The participants in the tableaux were the little Misses Cushing, McLaughlin, Emma and Laura Friend, Gibson, Starling and Meder. The music during the evening by Miss Emma Friend was superb, considering the age of the young miss. The entertainment was concluded at 9:30 o'clock, and everybody being well pleased. Such parties for children should be encouraged, for they are refining and elevating.

THE BICYCLE.—Yesterday morning as we wended our way toward the APPEAL office, we saw a gentleman propelling a rather formidable bicycle on Carson street, which bore him along at a sweeping pace till opposite the State house grounds, where the shadow of a telegraph pole fell across the street, and as it covered its entire width, of course he was brought to a stand still, and finally was compelled to dismount and carry the machine across the obstacle, when he went on his way rejoicing.

THE NEW CHRONICLE BUILDING.—We are in receipt of an invitation to an inspection of the new Chronicle building, to take place on the 29th instant. We regret our inability to be present. The invitation is a lithographed circular on fine double thick tinted note, with a very fine view of the new building, on the corner of Kearney and Bush streets.

A. O. U. W.—Mr. Royal I. Auld, Deputy Supreme Master of the Ancient Order of Workmen, will organize a lodge in the Masonic building in this city on Monday evening next. All those who have signified a desire to join are requested to go to Dr. Smart's office and be examined before applying for membership.

COUNTY CLERK OFFICE NOTES.—Yesterday an appeal was filed in the case of J. H. Martin vs. Mrs. J. J. Combs, for the recovery of money due. Petition was filed by Mrs. Annie Cavin, praying for letters of administration upon the estate of Henry D. Cavin, deceased.

DEPARTURES.—The following passengers departed on the southern stage yesterday morning: W. McCormick, T. Gunn, W. F. Delding, J. L. Holland, J. T. Mitchell, M. W. Jones, J. R. Jones, J. Pugh.

"PINAFORE."—The Juvenile "Pinafore" troupe appear at the Opera House on Tuesday, and will give our theatre goers a treat such as they have not had for a long time.

ARRIVALS.—The following passengers arrived on the southern stage yesterday afternoon: F. S. Holt, T. McGinnis, T. Reynolds.

A STRANGE APPARITION.

An employe of one of the mills at Empire met with a strange and weird adventure on Wednesday night, a quarter of a mile east of the State Prison, on his way home from this city. At the point stated he was confronted by a man dressed in black. The stranger was asked what he wished, but in place of replying he placed his hands where his hip pocket was supposed to be. The mill man fearing that the stranger contemplated drawing a weapon, he pulled his six-shooter and fired five times. The man only stood five feet apart, but the mill man's bullets had no effect, and he is said to be an excellent shot. The figure remained standing upright before him. He then walked ahead with the intention of laying his hands upon the apparition; but no sooner did he arrive within arm's length of the figure than it disappeared. The Empire-ite remained about the spot a few minutes longer, and as the stranger did not reappear, he proceeded on his way home. The strange adventure puzzled him greatly, but he hesitated speaking of it to his friends, fearing that they might think that he had been drinking. All of Thursday he could not manage to expel the strange experience from his thoughts; it haunted him every moment of that day. After battling with himself all day, at nightfall he concluded to take an intimate friend into his confidence. The friend laughed, and swore the mill man had been drinking. To remove that impression, the latter proposed to the former to reconnoitre and see whether the apparition could be met again that night. At first the friend declined to go on what he looked upon as a wild goose chase, but the mill man was so importunate that at length he yielded. At 10:30 o'clock the two reached the spot where the mill man had been confronted by the strange figure on the previous night, and they had not long to wait before the apparition, or whatever it is, presented itself. The two Empire-ites spoke, but received no reply; then they boldly walked up to the figure and caught hold of both of its arms, which were rather solid for a spiritual being, but the whole thing escaped their grasp as if it had been smoke. After lurking in the vicinity awhile longer that night without being able to solve the mystery, they went home. They have only revealed this matter to a few, as they fear being laughed at. The two men are well known in this city for their truthfulness and sobriety, but have a delivery about seeing their names in print in connection with this matter.

REFORM CLUB ENTERTAINMENT.

In Moore's Theater was collected last evening one of the largest gatherings yet called out to a meeting of the Carson Temperance Reform Club. The regular business of the evening was conducted as usual, in addition to which was an excellent musical and literary entertainment. First came a ballad, "Under the Daisies," neatly sung by Miss Belle Goddard. Then an original essay, "The Modern Young Man," delivered by Mrs. W. S. Byrne. It was full of telling points in juvenile follies, which were good naturedly given and so received. Mrs. J. P. Winnie, whose sweet voice and winsome manner never fail to please, sang "Don't be Sorrowful, Darling," in her best style. Miss Mary Wilson sang with good voice and expression, "My Laddie is Far Away." Mr. S. Morris, a comparative stranger to most of the audience, recited, in character, "That Baby of Mine," giving an excellent piece of German dialect business, which received a well deserved encore. The young gentleman gave another German recitation, which, like the first, brought down the house. A sweetly rendered duet, by Miss Belle Goddard and Miss Mary Wilson, followed. The closing feature of the evening was a familiar recitation to many, "The Maniac," by Mrs. Williams. The lady gave the recitation in character, and did splendidly, reading the lines with good voice and proper emphasis, and making it the feature of the evening. At the close a series of resolutions, complimentary, and deservedly so, to the retiring President, Gen. T. D. Edwards, were offered and of course were adopted unanimously. The General made an earnest speech in reply to the resolutions. "Old Hundred" was sung as a parting song, and the audience left, well satisfied with a well spent evening.

THE MASTODON MINSTRELS.

On Monday, October 6th, Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels will make their reappearance at the Opera House, for one night only. There will be an entire change of programme, and one fully as pleasing as when this most excellent company entertained our citizens a few weeks ago. Their houses were crowded nightly in San Francisco, in fact, they received a perfect ovation, to which they were justly entitled from a stand point of rare excellence. The box sheet is now open at the Opera House.

SMART ALECKS.—There is a certain class of would be smart Alecks in this city who think it a "deuced clever" trick to sell a reporter, and send him a half dozen boxes of soap to get a verification of their silly nonsense. After the reporter goes off on his legitimate business the "smarties" get into a corner and chuckle at their "smartness." These fellows can write themselves down as consummate asses with more propriety than any class of men that we know of.

BRIEF MENTION.

For a good Sunday dinner go to the Ormsby House.

There is scarcely any change in the stock market.

There are lots of fresh oysters in the market.

The family of Dr. Lee arrived in this city yesterday.

All the churches will hold services both morning and evening, to-day.

The stamp mania has again attacked the young school girls of this city.

The Carson Guard rifle team will shoot at Treadway's park this afternoon.

An army of hunters are going out on the war path to-day, from this city.

The southern stage brought in two bars of bullion from Marietta yesterday.

General Grant was entertained by the San Francisco Board of Brokers yesterday.

The new "Pinafore" gag is, "Never!" "What, Never?" Well, "D—d seldom."

The criminal calendar for the next term of the District Court, is more extensive than ordinarily.

The family of D. A. Bender returned from a several weeks sojourn at Lake Tahoe yesterday evening.

Deputy Surveyor General Fassett returned from Reno yesterday, much improved in health. Glad of it.

Service at the Episcopal Church at the usual hours, morning and evening. Sunday School immediately after morning service.

Michael Gregovich, George Perasich and M. Clesovich are in California hunting, everything from a cotton tail rabbit to a big bear.

A fine list of trotters and runners have already been entered for the October races; among the number are some of the most famous horses on the coast.

Rev. H. Kendall, D. D., of New York, will preach at the Presbyterian Church this evening. The gentleman has a reputation for rare eloquence, and should be heard.

Rev. A. H. Croco, of California, will preach in the Presbyterian Church at 11 A. M., and Rev. Henry Kendall, D. D., of New York City, will preach in the evening.

Officer Duncan last evening arrested a drunk with a plethora purse, to keep him from being "rolled" by the legion of petty larceny thieves who now infest the town.

The closing of all the Jewish houses gave Carson street a very dull look yesterday; but the aspect was quite changed in the evening, when all the stores were reopened.

The Good Templars of this city and Empire, who visited the Virginia lodge on Friday night, returned at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, after having passed a very agreeable time with their brethren above.

The illness of Mr. Matt Rinckel has not changed for the better as yet. Mr. Rinckel's condition is a very serious one, but the attending physicians express some hopes of saving his life. We trust they may.

Geo. W. Lee, a clerk in Tritle's broker office, Virginia, a gentleman well known in this city, suicided with a razor on Friday night. Cause supposed to have been chronic melancholia. He is spoken of as having been a most excellent gentleman.

There has been quite an influx of vags and petty thieves recently. Where they all come from no one knows; but every day or two one or more new ones can be seen on the streets. The police are watching them closely, and at the least slip of the foot they can expect to receive the hospitality of the jail.

"The sere and yellow leaf" of Autumn lies thick in our streets, and the cool nights invite to "natures sweet restorer, sleep;" but our pleasant Autumn days, the sweetest of the year, bring thoughts of "days long vanished;" the sweet spring of youth, the warm sunshine of life's summer days, and the lengthening shadows of declining years.

Col. G. G. Lyon, the Governor's Private Secretary, is a very particular gentleman. Over his desk in the Governor's office, hangs a very massive picture, frame and all weighing about a hundred pounds. Recently the nail on which the picture hangs gave evidence of giving way, and yesterday he had his desk moved from the place where the picture hangs, for fear that it might drop down upon him. Some people are really very particular about the most trifling matters.

INSANE MAN COMMITTED.—Henry Colter, an insane man of whom nobody knows anything here, was yesterday examined before Judge King, by Drs. White and Smart, and declared a fit subject for treatment at the asylum. He will be taken to Stockton to-night by Sheriff Hill. The type of Colter's insanity is a very mild one, and judging from his talk, it was produced by an intent study of spiritualism. When asked how old he is, he replied, 1800 years. He speaks of having been in heaven, and in a crude manner describes it as a beautiful place. He stated to an APPEAL reporter that he is sorry that he was driven out; and when asked why he was banished, he stated that the angels wanted him to live a while longer. He said that he was a soldier under Grant, and had been in the army 100 years. The greater part of the time his mind is absorbed with a trunk supposed to contain $200,000, which he believes some one is trying to steal.
